

Are you interested in starting your own business?

Are you a current small-business owner who never received formal training, or is your business in need of a “reboot”?

If so, you may be interested in the E-Hub entrepreneur-training program!

The E-Hub program, which includes six half-day classroom sessions, one-on-one coaching and counseling and networking opportunities with fellow aspiring entrepreneurs and established, successful small-business owners, will be offered twice this winter and spring in both Janesville and Beloit. The program is targeted to both those with completed (or partially completed) business plans as well as those who do not have a business plan.

E-Hub, which is founded on the core concept of giving back, provides:

- Evaluation of the business concept and an entrepreneurial asset analysis.
- Training that includes six half-day classes for entrepreneurs and business owners covering business ethics, leadership, and managerial operational skills.
- Support through a comprehensive network of business professionals and mentors.
- Peer-to-peer relationships that foster cooperation and match strengths among participants.
- Partnerships that maximize the opportunity for entrepreneurial success.

The meeting will explain the program in more detail, and lay out the steps needed to enroll. Those who are eligible for services as dislocated worker or an adult under the Workforce Investment Act (WIA) may qualify to have their program tuition and materials paid for under the program.
